ATOMIC CLOCK MUSIC EVENTS PRESENTS
MELTING POT:
NEW CHAMBER MUSIC FROM AMERICA AND BEYOND

Atomic Clock Music Events (Elizabeth McNutt and Andrew May, directors) presents Melting Pot, an Independence Day celebration of new chamber music. Featured composers will include Steve Reich, Morton Feldman, Lukas Foss, and a host of international voices that have contributed to the unique American mix.

ACME continues its collaboration with Chautauqua with a new concert celebrating the diversity and internationalism that make American music unique. Our country's new music culture embraces ideas, works, and composers from around the globe; Melting Pot will offer a sampling of this rich musical bounty. Performers will include ACME regulars Nan Shannon and Gary Grundei, piano; Andrew May, violin; Elizabeth McNutt, flute; and Dianne Betkowski, cello.

Melting Pot will be an interactive event in which the audience will be engaged in the experience of bringing new music to life. Atomic Clock Music Events collaborates with artists and arts venues to celebrate the cutting edge of living music, bringing underrepresented musical voices to Denver and Boulder area audiences.
